KANSAS CROPS AND WEATHER.

L. Elbert informs us, says the Quaker Chief, that he has 120 acres of late wheat on his fine section 33, two miles from the city, that it is now up and looking beautiful. He thinks from the present favorable outlook that he will surely make not less than thirty bushels per acre.

In the list of Childrens farmers whom the Index man interviewed on the acreage of wheat sown this fall, the average was about 100 acres.

The corn and cotton of Erath county were very fine this year.

Mr. Toudouze who has made a large success of an experimental rangeland crop in Bexar county will plant it on a large scale next year.

Cotton in Fannin county in the Porter's church community is all gathered with more than an average yield.

The syrup yield of Houston county this year, says the Crockett Courier, will be 100,000 gallons; in five years it would be 1,000,000 with guaranty of a profitable market.

Quinn Chief, J. M. Myers, who last spring bought four fine sections of Hardeman lands, has just finished sowing 800 acres of wheat on North Groesbeck, and has now turned his extensive forces to the Wanders creek valley, where he proposes to prepare and sow 1000 new out. His force of men and teams is almost equal to a railroad grading.

The Valley News, Bosque county, says Mr. F. M. Hamlin and his four sons, the oldest being only fifteen years of age, have entered twenty-two bales of cotton this season. They also made 600 bushels of corn.

TEXAS SCHOOLS AND CHURCHES.

A movement is on foot by the Methodist denomination of Ballinger to erect a stone church. The movement is meeting with much success and encouragement. Eighteen hundred dollars have been subscribed to the present date, and it is thought much more will be subscribed in a short time. A committee of solicitation has been appointed to prosecute the work.

San Antonio has the finest college building in the state on paper, and in less than one year will have it in stone and brick. The foundations are in, and they are now erecting an immense structure, so says the Light.

A new church is to be erected at Praha, Fayette county, this winter. Work will soon be commenced.

The Houston Echo has the following item of interest: Early in the new year an attempt will be made to start a purely independent church, the only condition of membership being the desire and intention to live such a life as Christ lived, and to bring down in one's own life, and by precept and example in the lives of others, the kingdom of God upon earth.

Terrell, Dec. 15.—After a rest of several months, street preaching has again commenced in Terrell by traveling evangelists.

TEXAS PROGRESS.

A fine stone building is soon to be erected at Gordon, Palo Pinto county, for hotel purposes.

Sherman Democrat: The commissioners have contracted with the Chicago bridge and iron company for an iron bridge over Red Oak on the Sherman and Whitesboro road two miles from the city.

The Memphis road in Hall county to Collinsville has been put in good condition for travel.

Work on the new $35,000 court house is progressing nicely, says the Clarendon Traveler, and the second-story windows are all set. The St. Louis pressed brick, of which the outside walls are being constructed, contrast handsomely with the gray sandstone trimmings, and when completed, the house will be one of the most handsome and substantial structures of the kind in Texas.

In speaking of the new well at Beaumont the contractor said: The water is undoubtedly as good, pure and sweet as I have yet discovered in my whole course of well boring. I went down 530 feet and struck a very rich yield of the best water the good people of Beaumont ever saw or tasted. When the flow had become perfect this well of which I speak was gushed by hundreds of persons and Mr. Fletcher was congratulated very cleverly on having secured the source of 150,000 gallons per day—more than he and all his friends could possibly use.

MINERAL WELLS, Dec. 14.—Many new residences are in process of construction and many others are talked of as soon as the lumbermen can get their lumber over the mountains to the purpose. A $75,000 hotel is talked of, and the gentlemen having the matter in charge say they will have it completed and ready for the reception of visitors by the 1st of June, 1901. Parties are here from California figuring on putting in an electric plant with waterworks, which they claim will be in operation during next year. The bombardier lumber company have secured the ground and will establish an immense lumber yard at this point, thus enabling the people of Young and south and southwestern part of Jack county to get their lumber twenty-five miles nearer home than heretofore, when they had to haul over a rough road from Weatherford. Some of our local capitalists have organized a company and will immediately apply for a charter to bore for gas and artesian water, both of which will be found in great abundance in less than 800 feet from the surface.

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 15.—Twenty-five thousand dollars' worth of land was sold here today. It will form the site of a sanitarium for consumptive or other winter patients. Construction will begin at once.

TEXAS IMMIGRATION.

A steady stream of immigration continues to pour into Frio county, and spread all over her school land, says the Special News.

Each train brings a new crowd of prospectors to Quanah, says the Chief. Every indication is that after the first of the year the crowd will be greater than ever before.

Immigrants, immigrants! Still they come. Three families came in to-day on one train and another family last night. Those arriving to-day are the families of C. H. Rogers, S. F. Ward and William Ward, all of Water Valley, Miss. They are good substantial people and will settle in the county adjacent to Weatherford. Thus says the Constitution.

According to the Georgetown Sun, on last Friday twenty-one immigrants, direct from Switzerland, arrived in Georgetown on the train which came SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—The senate met at 10 o'clock this morning. After the transaction of some unimportant business Mr. Morgan gave notice he would call up the Dolph resolution respecting the abridgment of the right of suffrage to-morrow morning.

The first bill considered on the calendar was one enlarging the rights of homesteaders on public lands. Passed. It provides that parties opposite unsurveyed lands and therefore were obliged to take up less than 160 acres, they may extend their holdings not to exceed 160 acres.

The bill subjecting oleomargarine to the operation of the state laws, and Padlock's pure food bill, and Conner's pure food bill having come up in their order, were laid aside without prejudice at the request of Mr. Farwell.

On motion of Mr. Jones, of Arkansas, the house bill was passed for the erection of public building at Calden, Ark., at a cost of $25,000.

The senate then proceeded to the consideration of the election bill, the floor being taken by Mr. Colquitt.

Mr. Wilson of Maryland made a legal and constitutional argument against the bill, and Mr. Vance also spoke against the measure.

At the close of Mr. Vance's speech the vice-president announced the question to be on Mr. Gray's amendment to strike out the sixth paragraph of section 7, the house to house clause.

Mr. Hale.—If we can have a vote on the amendment now I will not interpose a motion to proceed to executive business.

Harris.—You will hardly get a vote on this evening, I reckon.

Hour remarked that he had expected the senator from West Virginia (Mr. Kenney) to address the senate to-day.

Butler spoke in support of the amendment which he had suggested several days ago providing that supervisors, canvassers and other election officers are to be regarded as ministerial and not as judicial officers.

Hour opposed the amendment, and a long debate ensued, which had not ended when the senate went into executive session and soon adjourned.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—McKinley of Ohio, from the ways and means committee, reported and the house adopted a resolution calling on the secretary of the treasury for the names of several banks in which public money is deposited, place where such deposits are situated, date of such deposits, reasons therefor, and rate of interest, if any, which has been or is now being paid into the treasury by such depositories in return for the use of the public, also for information as to the authority by depositors and the law under which such deposits were made.

Mr. Spinoia, from the committee on military affairs, moved to suspend the rules and pass the bill appropriating $100,000 for the erection of a monument to the victims of the prison at Fort Green, Brooklyn.

Kerr of Iowa demanded second reading, which was ordered.

Allen of Michigan, while adding his speech of praise to the patriotism of the men who were now desired to honor by the erection of a monument, opposed the bill.

Several other members entered into the discussion.

The motion was lost—yeas, 90; nays, 103.

Mr. McKinley of Ohio, from the committee on ways and means, reported the Flower joint resolution extending the bonded period from February 1 to July 1, 1891.

The debate on disposition on the part of Mr. Culbreth of Texas to debate the measure, Mr. McKinley withdrew it, and the house adjourned.

THE LOTTERY QUESTION.
Mandamus Proceedings that Bring the Whole Matter Before the Courts.

Special to the Gazette.
NEW ORLEANS, La., Dec. 15.—Application was made to the district court at Baton Rouge by Mr. John A. Morris, head of the Louisiana Lottery company, for a mandamus directed against the secretary of state to compel him to publish the lottery amendment to the constitution passed at the last session of the legislature. The suit is for the purpose of determining whether that amendment was legally passed by the legislature or not, and on its decision hangs the question whether the charter of the Louisiana lottery company shall be extended twenty-five years or not. When the constitutional amendment was submitted to the legislature it received exactly the necessary two-thirds majority in both houses, sixty-six of ninety-eight members of the assembly and twenty-four of thirty-six senators. The governor vetoed the amendment and returned it to the legislature. It was passed over his veto in the house and an attempt was made to do the same in the senate, but in the meantime

ONE OF THE SENATORS DIED and prevented it. It was then claimed that the governor could not veto a constitutional amendment. Here the question has remained ever since, the lottery project claiming that the amendment was properly passed by the legislature and the governor's veto is of no account, and the anti-lottery people that the amendment is dead and cannot be submitted to the people. The secretary of state appears to have taken this view of the matter, for he has promulgated all the other acts of the legislature except this, and as the law requires its promulgation before it can be voted on, the lottery company has been compelled to appeal to the courts to determine its status.

The case will go at once to the supreme court. If the lottery wins the question of an extension of the charter will be submitted to the popular vote in 1892. The indications now are that it will win the fight on the election. If the case is lost it will put an end to the lottery in Louisiana. The suit, therefore, covers the entire lottery question now being so fiercely fought over in Louisiana.

MINEOLA.
Just Now Entering Upon an Unprecedented Boom—The Natural Resources' Development Is Being Developed.

To the Gazette.
Mineola is now entering upon a boom that we expect to eclipse anything of the kind ever inaugurated in the state.

The contract is now let for a fine brick bank two-stories high, which is to be used for offices of the manufacturing plant to be located soon. This manufacturing organization is for the purpose of developing some of the resources of this country that has been for a long time lying idle, to-wit: Our inexhaustible timber supply. Mineola is the western boundary of the great East Texas timbers. Adjacent to Mineola we have every kind of timber used in the manufacture of all kind of household furniture, as well as the requisites for building railroad coaches; and we are informed that the building and equipping of sleeping car coaches is to be one of the special lines operated by the manufacturing plant now being put in at Mineola. We also have the most valuable salt mines near Mineola. The company is now being organized to work these salt mines to the extent of 500 barrels of salt per day. We also have within a few miles of Mineola rocky hills that are full of as fine iron ore as are to be found anywhere in Texas. We want now a company to come and put in an iron smelting furnace, and then you will see in Mineola other plants follow, such as water works, electric lights, etc. Thus Mineola has the brightest prospects just ahead that any new city has ever enjoyed. The natural advantages of this point is such as to give to our little thriving city the advantage of being so situated that we get all those manufacturing without having to pay a bonus to the manufacturer to come here. All we have to do is to give him ground to locate his plant on and he can make the balance by investing in our cheap land around town and make his bonus by the rise in the lands as the town grows under his development, which is sure to follow when the large manufacturing interest, which is now a certainty, goes into active operation.

The man who was killed by the Texas and Pacific freight train on the western limits of the city on Sunday evening was learned yesterday to be an aged laborer known in the city as "Uncle Billy." For years he has been engaged on the city streets, and recently has worked at the rock quarries, near the Daggett school house.

The manner of his death was slightly different from that described in yesterday's paper. He was seen by the engineer as he was crossing the trestle, but the lever was reversed and the old man hurried to get out of the way, he was too late and was lifted off the track.
